Tale of Two Adams: Scott Hahn Reflects on the First Sunday of Lent

In today's Liturgy, the destiny of the human race is told as the tale of two "types" of men the first man, Adam, and the new Adam, Jesus (1 Corinthians 15:21-22; 45-59). Paul's argument in the Epistle is built on a series of contrasts between "one" or "one person" and "the many" or "all." By one person's disobedience, sin and condemnation entered the world, and death came to reign over all. By the obedience of another one, grace abounded, all were justified, and life came to reign for all. This is the drama that unfolds in today's First Reading and Gospel. Formed from the clay of the ground and filled with the breath of God's own Spirit, Adam was a son of God (Luke 3:38), created in His image (Genesis 5:1-3). Crowned with glory, he was given dominion over the world and the protection of His angels (Psalms 8:6-8; 91:11-13). He was made to worship God to live not by bread alone but in obedience to every word that comes from the mouth of the Father. Adam, however, put the Lord his God to the test. He gave in to the serpent's temptation, trying to seize for himself all that God had already promised him. But in His hour of temptation, Jesus prevailed where Adam failed and drove the devil away. Still, we sin after the pattern of Adam's transgression. Like Adam, we let sin in the door (Genesis 4:7) when we entertain doubts about God's promises, when we forget to call on Him in our hours of temptation. But the grace won for us by Christ's obedience means that sin is no longer our master.

As we begin this season of repentance, we can be confident in His compassion, that He will create in us a new heart (Romans 5:5; Hebrews 8:10). As we do in today's Psalm, we can sing joyfully of our salvation, renewed in His presence.

Since 1972, councils have sponsored the Knights of Columbus Free Throw Championship for boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 14 to provide an athletic outlet and encourage the values of sportsmanship and healthy competition. Kids compete within their own gender and age and progress from local level to district, regional and state/province competitions. Join Grand Knight Ernie Guerra in congratulating the winners and wish them the best as they advance in competition. If you'd like to be a part of an international organization of nearly 2 million Catholic men whose principal work involves helping others in need, we'd like to meet you and invite you to the OLG Council. Meetings held on 2nd Wednesdays at 7 PM in the Parish Center. Contact Membership Chairman Byron Paige (916) 995-4570 for information.
