World Mission Sunday: Hearts on Fire, Feet on the Move

October 18 is World Mission Sunday, a day that reminds us of our shared mission to proclaim the Good News of God's love to the whole world. It invites us to reflect on the missionary nature of our Christian faith and to renew our commitment to sharing the Gospel. The Church is missionary by nature, and each of us, through Baptism, is called to participate in this mission. Therefore, it is important to ask ourselves: What is the foundation of our mission? What lies at the heart of it? How can we effectively carry out our missionary responsibility in today's world?

Stepping out of our comfort zones to become missionaries is not always easy. Having served as a missionary in East Africa for more than nine years and in the United States for over sixteen years, I have firsthand experience of the joys, pastoral fulfillment, challenges, and struggles that are part of missionary life. In Kenya, I served in mission territories without running water, electricity, or paved roads. The parish entrusted to my care covered a vast geographical area, almost the size of three counties in California, with 28 small churches. These experiences taught me that missionary work requires faith, perseverance, sacrifice, and, above all, a deep love for Christ and His people.

In his 2023 message for World Mission Sunday, Pope Francis chose the theme "Hearts on Fire, Feet on the Move," inspired by the story of the disciples on the road to Emmaus (Luke 24:13-35). He invited all baptized Christians to renew their missionary zeal, allowing the love of Christ to set their hearts ablaze and inspire them to share the Gospel with others. As Jesus explained the Scriptures to the disciples, their hearts burned within them. Their eyes were opened, and they recognized Him in the breaking of the bread. Filled with renewed faith and enthusiasm, they immediately returned to Jerusalem to proclaim the Good News of the Risen Lord.

Dear friends, during this month of October, let us allow our hearts to be set on fire by the love of Christ and put our feet into motion through acts of evangelization. We can all be missionaries in our own families, workplaces, neighborhoods, and communities. Let us remember missionaries throughout the world in our prayers, support their work through our generous contributions, and, above all, embrace our own calling to be missionary disciples in our time. May our hearts burn with the love of Christ, and may our feet carry His Good News to everyone we meet!
